3. The Political Science Major requires 10 upper division courses that include concentration, distribution, and elective requirements. Below is an example of a schedule to complete the major in two years. All “concentration” courses must be from one field (American Politics in the example), and the “distributions” require at least one course in each of three other fields (here, CP, IR, and PT, respectively). The four “major electives” may come from any field. Enrolling in summer session A and/or C is an option.
